Personal Statement

I've lived on the estate in West Hallam for the last 35 years. I am a retired police Inspector (in the 1980s I was the village bobby for a couple of years), and am now a professional local historian, concentrating on the Heanor area and the Erewash Valley – I give numerous talks throughout the year and have written a couple of books.

To get me out and about in our wonderful countryside, I am an active member of the Ramblers, and a keen geocacher.

I am a trustee of the Heanor Local History Society, the Nottinghamshire Local History Association, and the Friends of the Centre for English Local History at Leicester University.

I also represent the West Hallam & Dale Abbey Ward of Erewash Borough Council as a Liberal Democrat Councillor.
